

SHANE McISAAC

SITE SUPERINTENDENT

BACKGROUND

Shane began his career in the construction industry as an electrical apprentice but found his interests lied more within the direction of overall construction coordination. Shane began his career at Longboard Construction as a general labourer. Shane was able to demonstrate an exceptional aptitude for commercial construction, specifically with scheduling and the coordination of site activities, tradespeople and clients. Upon presenting strong supervisory capabilities, he was promoted to a Lead Hand shortly followed by Site Superintendent.

EXPERIENCE

Shane continuously demands accountability for the safety of his job site, labourers, sub trades and visitors. He continually ensures that site personnel apply the developed standards for safe working conditions and provides continuous leadership among his job sites. Shane's Site Superintendent experience and expertise has been predominately in the renovation element of general contracting. He is well versed in the responsibilities required of a Site Superintendent and takes his role very seriously.
